Lectures, presentations and training – anywhere, anytime, automatically

Mediasite captures your knowledge as it's naturally shared – when and where it happens – and delivers that critical information over the web to the people who need it. Instantly.

It automatically webcasts you and your materials over the internet, where people can watch in real-time or later on-demand through any web browser.

Only Mediasite lets you create affordable, multimedia webcasts and gives you the tools to easily manage those presentations.
